COMMENTARY BY INVESTMENT BOARD

During the stock rally in the fourth quarter of 2023, the stock market demonstrated the best performance among the majority of asset classes for the year. Our fund's core investment thesis of "stay invested" proved itself, reflecting in the annual fund results.

Key questions arising in the new year include whether the U.S. stock market will continue to be the primary flagship, the ongoing developments in military conflicts, and the impact of upcoming elections in various regions on the markets. Our expectations for 2024 are as follows:

- The global economy will maintain approximately 3% growth.
- The growth of the U.S. economy will significantly outpace that of the Euro-zone and the UK (+0.5%).
- Most developed countries' central banks will start reducing base interest rates (except Japan).
- The likelihood of a recession in the U.S. will significantly decrease.

- Inflation across markets will decrease significantly.
- Expect lower, single-digit returns in the stock markets.
- Geopolitical risk will increase significantly.

The chosen fund strategy is well-diversified, and we believe it will help manage emerging risks and achieve the expected returns in 2024.
